While I overruled the motion to continue these causes upon the same grounds when the motion was made on Wednerday, yet, upod mature reflection and consideration, I feel that it will be best for the State and for the defendants that these trials be had when the public mind is calmer, so that the jurors selected to try these causes may be enabled to weigh the testimony and evidence submitted uninfluenced by excitement or public clamor.

I am sure that an Oconee jury can be obtained to try these causes fairly and impartially, so I must overrule the motion for the change of venue, and it so ordered; but, in my opinion, the ends of justice will be subserved by a postponement of the trials until the next term of this court, and it is so ordered.

We agree thoroughly with Judge Shipp that a fair and imparital trial can be had for the defendants in Oconee. We believe that on Tuesday of last week the defendants could have come into court for trial and have received at the hands of the law as fair and imparital a trial as if the case were to be heard in Maine or any other State far removed from the scene of the tragedy. We have faith in the fairness and imparitality of an Oconee jury.

The sffidavits submitted on both sides convinced me that at present, at and near Walhalia, near which the alleged homicide took pace the public mind is in an excited state, and I cannot overlook the fact that the jurors drawn to serve at this term of court bave necessarily heard much of the homicide, and doubtless many of them have discussed the same. While the right to examine these jurors upon their voir dire might give defendants an opportunity to challenge for cause such as bave formed decided opinions, any extra jurors served or drawn must necessarily be taken from people who reside near the scene of the alleged homicide, and these doubtless have been subject to the same public excitement. allel to and 200 yards west of road from Charles Richie's to Wardlaw's place; line No. 6, runs N. 70 deg. the fairness and impartiality of an Oconee jury.

Judge Shipp doubtless has a clearer insight into the law and its possibilities than we have; nevertheless it is our candid opinionthat the cause of justice would have been best subserved by hearing the case and disposing of it promptly. We cannot see where the postponement will in any way affect the case, which must be tried on its merits, the result resting upon facts, which the postponement cannot change.

The homicide was committed during the sitting of Court, and our yiew af the case is that the trial should have taken pisce. It is our candid opinion that, had the Court not been in session at the time of the homicide, the circumstances of the crime were sufficient to have called for a special term to have disposed of the case speedily, yet with all due regard to fairness, justice and impartiality.

There is no feeling tending toward moby violebee on the part of our citizens. There is no section of the country where can be found more of the spirit that respects Caurts and obeys the laws. Let us keep our reputation, and let the Courts help us to keep it. And we believe the best way for the Courts to retain the thorough respect and absolute condence of a law-abiding people is to act with promptness in every case.

The Court will find no impediment thrown in its way by the citizens of Oconee to the administration of adequate, fair and impartial justice in this case or in any case in the future. Your Cotton Crop Can Be Increased

It costs no more to cultivate an acre that produces two bales of cotton than an acre which produces only one-quarter of a bale. Why not see what you can do

Virginia-Carolina Fertilizers

Other men have been able to double and more than double their yield per acre with a liberal application of Virginia-Carolina Fertifizers.

Messrs. Lucas & Jackson of Kelsey County, Tenn., used Virginia-Carolina Fertilizer on about 55 acres planted with cotton, and say: "We have the finest crop of cotton we ever saw, and all the people around here think the same. We actually counted 447 bolls on one stalk. Another stalk had by actual count 409 bolls, forms, squares and blossoms. On about 8 acres we expect to make about 2 bales to the acre, and an estimate of adjoining farms not so fertilized and under other cultural methods, will yield only 1 bale to

Analysis of Our Fertilizers.

Samples of three brands of our fertilizers have been drawn by a State inspector of fertilizers and analyzed by the Clemson College authorities with the following results:

Our 8-3-3 ammoniated goods analyzes 8.69-3.66-3.60. Our 8.75-2-2 ammoniated goods analyzes 10.43-2.02-2.11. Our 16 per cent. acid analyzes 16.87 per cent.

You will make no mistake in buying our fertilizers. We are running on quality. The analyzes shows that they are much above our guarantee.

Several of our customers have complimented us on the good, dry, mechanical condition of our goods this year.

Anderson Phosphate & Oil Co., ANDERSON, S. C.

To the Farmers!

We want to talk to you a little now about our ammoniated fertilizers.

The acid and meal season is about over. Those who use acid and meal haul it home early in the season so that they can mix it. The season for ammoniated goods commence later, and, in fact, is about starting now. There is not much difference in acids; me acid is about as good as another. It is all made of phosphate rock, bone phosphate lime), crushed and treated with sulphuric acid. That is how you get your acid phosphate and one fertilizer company turns out about as good quality of this goods is another. The difference in fertilzer is in ammoniated goods. Amnoniated goods are made by taking his same acid phosphate and mixng it with ammoniates, blood tankge, nitrate of soda, cotton seed neal, sulphate of ammonia, garbage. Now, some of these ammoniates do heir work and exhaust more quicky than others and so by properly nixing and manipulating our amconiates, we have gotten a fertilizer nat will nourish the plant from the ime it sprouts, all during the growng season, during the laying-by seaon and up to the time the plant is natured and ready to be gathered. Take for instance nitrate of soda. It icts quickly and exhausts. Cotton seed meal will come in next; it will lissolve and assimulate with the soil and become a plant food. It all has o dissolve and assimulate with the soil before it becomes a plant food, just as when you plant a grain of orn it has to germinate before it omes up. Tankage come in next and then blood, which lasts until the crop is matured and ready to be gathered. So, by taking the different kinds of ammoniates in the proper proportion, one coming in as one exhausts, we have a fertilizer that will feed and nourish the plant from the time it sprouts until it is ready to be gathered. That is a complete fertilizer and unless it does that it is not a complete fertilizer. It does not matter where you get it, it is not a complete fertilizer unless it feeds and nourishes the plant from the time it sprouts until the crop is ready to be gathered. These ammoniates are very expensive; that is why ammoniated goods costs more than acids. Take sulphate of ammonia; it costs $64 per ton laid down at the factory. We have bought quite a lot of this and are using it in fertilizers that we sell for less than $30 per ton, just because we want to make the right kind of goods; goods that will make the crop grow and keep growing and will make a man take a pride in his crop. Our ammoniated goods used on lands that are prepared and cultivated, as the farmers in this section usually prepare and cultivate their lands, will get all out of the land there is in it and a farmer should not be satisfied with making the land do less than that. The trouble about using a cheap fertilizer is just this: by the time you find out it is no account you have lost a crop and you have lost a year's work and the only thing you can do is to wait until next year and try again and fertilize Every sample of our goods that has been analyzed at Clemson College ran way above our analysis which shows that we are making the right kind of goods. There is absolutely no adulteration in the fertilizers we are making. They are made of bone phosphate of lime ammoniates and nothing else. There is nothing better made. Our goods will feed and nourish the plant from the time it sprouts until it is ready to be gathered and that is the kind of goods your land needs; that is the kind of goods your land must have to make first class crops. If you want goods of this sort, we have them and they are for sale. They are home made and they are made right; they are dry and well pulverized and we want you to try them. See our
